COMMUNITY SERVICE OFFERS WIDE FIELD

Personal Representatives To Visit University March 3-4 to Interest 1922 Seniors

This year, as in preceding years, Community Service is turning to the colleges of the country and selecting a number of fifteen or twenty of the outstanding men in the 1922 year's graduation classes for employment. Community Service is a national civic organization incorporated in February 1919 with headquarters at One Madison Avenue, New York City. It exists to assist American communities to make the leisure time of their citizens more valuable and more expressive through community recreation, music, drama and neighborhood organization. By so doing it aims to promote citizenship, neighborliness, community spirit and in general a more abundant life for the locality in which it operates.

At the present time Community Service is promoting work in more than two hundred American cities. Next year it is expecting to increase its field of operations substantially and for this reason its working personnel must be enlarged.

The college men chosen will be given a very thorough training in the methods and policies of the organization at a training school to be held in Chicago starting August first. Following this the men will be sent out in the field in charge of an experienced worker who will give them practical training over a period of several months. After this the men will be fitted into the national organization (depending upon their own abilities

L. C. FIELDER TO BE UNIVERSITY CHAMPION

Will Meet Contesting Orators In Danville Saturday Night.

L. C. Fieder will represent the University of Kentucky in the State Oratorical Contest which will be held at Danville Saturday night. The subject of his oration is "The Debt to Our Dead."

Unusually interest is being manifested in the contest this year, and a number of students from the University of Kentucky are planning to attend.

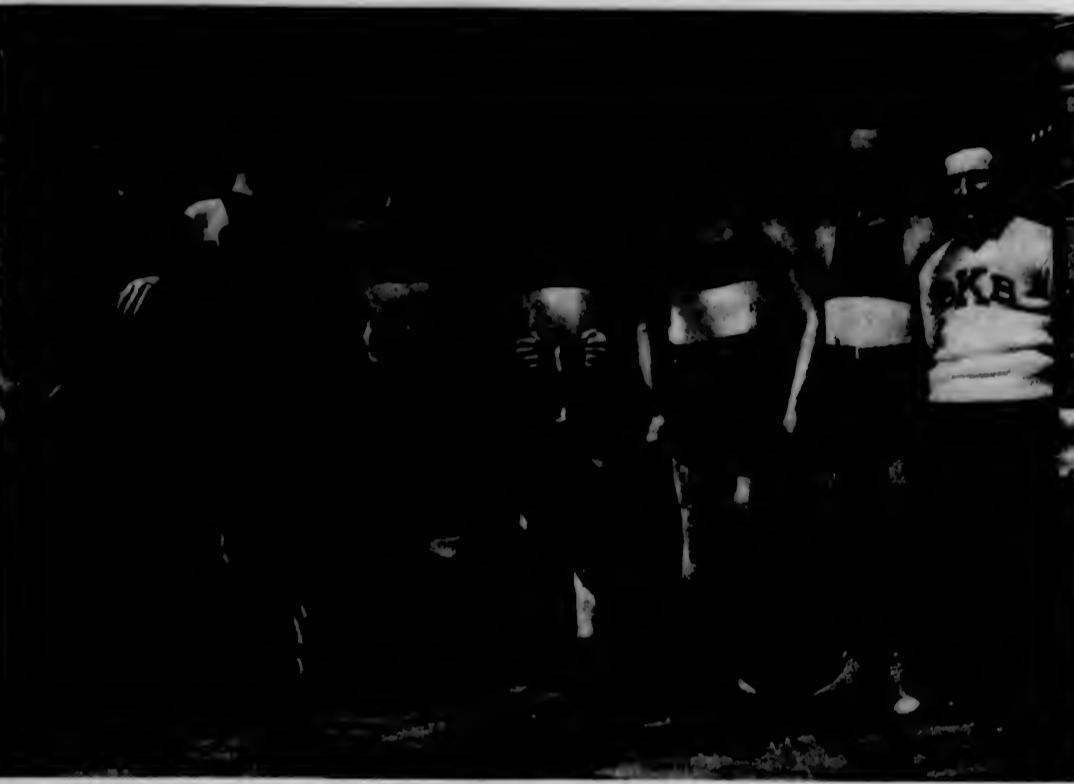

Prof. W. H. Mikessell is sanguine over the outcome of the contest, as he regards the oration of Mr. Fieder as one of marked merit.

Final tryouts for the debating team will be held in the Little Theatre Tuesday afternoon, March 7. Of the twenty or more men who are trying for the team, six will be chosen, three for the regular team and three alternates.

The University team will debate with Vanderbilt, Sewanee, and North Carolina University on the subject of Immigration. In addition Professor Mikessell is endeavoring to schedule a debate with Harvard in April. The subject of the Harvard debate has not been definitely announced.

U. OF K. TO BE ASKED TO JOIN NEW CONFERENCE

Big Intercollegiate Athletic Association Hopes to Improve College Sports

The University of Kentucky was included among the names of those universities which were invited for invitations to a conference to be held in Chicago March 18, for the purpose of organizing a central intercollegiate athletic conference for all major sports. This movement originated at a meeting of representatives from a number of non-conference schools in Illinois comprising the Western conference, held in Chicago February 25.

Other universities included in this list were: Wabash, Michigan Aggies, DePauw, University of Cincinnati, Marquette, Detroit University and Notre Dame.

Coach Rockne of Notre Dame in speaking of the organization said, "There is absolutely no question but that athletics would be greatly benefited by such a conference. Unless a university is a member of some conference, complying with well defined rules governing eligibility, it comes under suspicion, no matter how clean it may try to keep its sports."

Athletic directors and faculty members of eligible institutions will be invited and all open questions about rules and regulations, schedules and associations will be discussed at the March meeting.

EXPRESSION OF SYMPATHY

The faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences extends to Mrs. Alberta Wilson Server its sympathy for her in the loss of her father and requests that this expression be sent to Mrs. Server; published in the Kernel and spread on the minutes of the March meeting.

DRAMATIC PRODUCTION CLASS GIVES 2 PLAYS

Second of Series of Little Theatre Offerings Given Thursday Afternoon

The program for the regular Thursday afternoon matinee which was given by the class in Dramatic production in the Little Theatre consisted of two short plays; the first called "Bachelor Girls," in which Mary Elizabeth Crafton and Margaret Lavin took part; and the second consisting of two scenes, entitled "Success" in which Marjorie Riddle and Henry Taylor took part.

Tea was served afterward in the Woman's Rest Room in White Hall, Elizabeth Hopkins being hostess of the afternoon.

The play "Campbell of Kilmour" by J. A. Ferguson, given last week, was a success from every viewpoint. The audience enthusiastically predicted a splendid matinee season. The cast was composed of Corinne Cowgill, Jeanette Sasher, Henry Taylor, John Vogel and Joe Wadsworth.

Next Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock the class will present "His Place in the Family," a play written by John M. Brown, a former student of the University of Kentucky, who is now taking dramatic work in Harvard. The cast will be as follows:

John Weatherly C. D. Graham
Susan Helen Wells
Tom Elizabeth Hopkins
Jack T. A. Bayless

The class will serve tea afterwards. All students and friends of the University are freely and cordially invited to witness the play and attend the tea.

WINNING POEM IS TO HAVE PLACE OF HONOR

Writer of Memorial, Must Under Regulations, Be A Kentuckian

The Kentucky Memorial Association has offered a prize of $50 for the best poem commemorating the heroes who fell during the World War. Only Kentuckians are eligible to write the poems which are to be sent to Herbert Graham, secretary of the Alumni Association.

Prof. L. Dantzler, head of the Department of English, at the University of Kentucky, is chairman of the committee, which is to decide the prize-winning poem. The other members of the committee, representatives of all the colleges in Kentucky, are: B. F. Wise of Centre; Clarence Freeman, of Transylvania; J. B. Jones of Georgetown; Boyd Martin, instructor in dramatics at the University of Louisville and Dramatic Critic of the Courier Journal.

The winning poem will become the property of the Kentucky Memorial Association. It will be published, placed on a bronze tablet and probably emblazoned on the wall of the proposed Memorial Building. The committee is to meet in the near future and announcement of the winner will be made soon.

Many applications from those not living in the state have been made but the rules prescribe that the writer must be a resident of Kentucky. More than sixty-one poems have been received by Mr. Graham. According to the rules each competitor must send five type-written copies of his poem and any poems not complying with the rules will be disregarded. There is no restriction in length or style.

DR. ARNOLD TO SPEAK TO GIRLS SATURDAY

Woman's League Brings Third Interesting Speaker to University

Dr. E. H. Arnold, director of the New Haven Normal School of Gymnastics, will speak to the women students of the University on "Physical Education as a Vocation" Saturday, March 4, at the fifth hour in the Little Theater. His lecture is the third in the series of speakers brought here by the Vocational Guidance Committee of the Woman's League.

Doctor Arnold, who comes here from a meeting of the United States Education Commission in Chicago, is particularly well known in athletic circles. He was formerly president of the American Physical Education Association. Because of his ability as a speaker and his thorough knowledge of athletics, and kindred subjects, all University women and especially those interested in athletics as a vocation are urged to hear Doctor Arnold.

The New Haven alumnae of Kentucky will entertain with a luncheon, at the Lafayette Hotel Saturday in honor of Doctor Arnold. That afternoon he will meet a class of graduates of the school in the Girl's gymnasium. Immediately following, Mrs. Stout will entertain with a tea for him.

and the emergencies of the situation either as executive secretaries in certain towns or attached to some department of the national headquarters.

College men needed for this type of work must possess executive and organizing talents; the ability to mingle and deal with people; a broad social outlook; and a desire to be able to render some form of public service. Men coming into the service have been very happy because of the pioneer nature of the work; because of the increasing recognition that leaders over the country are giving to it; and because of the unusual type of person being attracted by the movement. The fact that the organization is comparatively new and the field unlimited makes a strong appeal to the ambitious young men who want to grow with the organization. Unusual opportunities for the development of the individual are afforded through travel, contact with all types of people, and the prestige that comes with affiliation with a national organization.

Rohe Walter, a representative of the Personnel Bureau of Community Service will be in Lexington on Friday to talk with any men of the senior class of the University who might be interested in becoming connected with such a national organization. All men desirous of seeing Mr. Walter on Friday should arrange for interviews through the President's office.

on Friday and Saturday afternoons at Patterson Hall.

Doctor Eddy will speak on the following subjects: "The Challenge of the Present World Situation," "The Challenge of America's Problems;" "The Challenge of Campus Problems;" "What Shall I Do With My Life;" "A Rational Faith for the Modern Student."

Sherwood Eddy is acquainted with every phase of student life and is known equally well in Europe, Asia and America. He is a man of varied interests and has a worth-while message for every student of the University of Kentucky.

ENGINEERS GIVEN ILLUSTRATED TALK

Mr. Pfisterer Spoke on Advantages of Mechanical Draft

Mr. G. E. Pfisterer of the Green Fuel Economizer Company delivered a very interesting talk in Dicker Hall last Friday afternoon. His subject was Mechanical Draft, and his talk interspersed with slides, was quite instructive. Mr. Pfisterer was brought here under the auspices of the National Association of Fan Manufacturers, with the view of explaining the practical application of fans.

During the course of his talk, Mr. Pfisterer pointed out the fact that since the general tendency at present is to use stokers, a good draft is requisite. Hence a mechanical draft is necessary in many cases. A mechanical draft greatly reduces the initial cost of production, and it has been shown that to install a fan or blower is much cheaper than to build a stack sufficiently large to supply the same draft as that furnished by the fan.

Mr. Pfisterer also made manifest the growing need for a larger number of experimenters in the field of combustion, and that it offers a very wide and extensive field for growth and development.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

Kappa Kappa Gamma had charge of the second one of the series of Y. W. C. A. programs given by the sororities at the regular Sunday evening meeting. Doctor A. W. Fortune pastor of the Central Christian Church was the speaker. His subject was "The Religious Problems of the University Girls." He spoke in part as follows:

"Despite the fact that they have far more problems than other people there are three of four serious ones which confront University girls. (1) Their peculiar relation to the church. At home they are perhaps closely identified with the church but they are practically strangers in their college towns. They have no church responsibilities and so are likely to grow neglectful of their early religious training. (2) The peculiarity of their life in the University. They are kept busy all week with their college activities and Sunday is usually a day of relaxation. (3) This is a period of question and doubt and time is not taken to answer these questions. (4) They are tending to outgrow their old religion. They have left the old environment and have grown intellectually and in every other way except religiously. And so their old religion is outgrown.

"Religion is life and must go with the other thinking. You must think through the Bible. The purpose of the Bible is to reveal God and to show his working with men. It is a record of the developing conception of God's revelation."

Elizabeth Hume led the meeting and Julia Willis read the Scriptural passage.

Alumni Notes

Alumni of University of Kentucky who have been active in the support of their Alma Mater in legislative matters at Frankfort have received special recognition at the hands of their fellow law makers. Chairmanship of important committees has been awarded to the alumni in the House of Representatives and three of them are on the Rules Committee which is in entire control of legislation during the last twenty days of the session. These are John E. Brown, Joe F. Bosworth and Arch L. Hamilton.

In the Senate J. Will Stoll has been appointed on the Rules Committee, the second Republican to hold such a post in a Kentucky Senate. The first was Joe F. Bosworth also a former student of the University. Senator Stoll directed the defense of the University in the debate over the so-called "monkey bills." Supporters of these bills in debate suggested widespread atheism among university graduates and teachers.

Consideration of the evolution measures in the Senate was postponed by a vote of 19 to 17 until a time when the Rules Committee would take charge. A majority of the Rules Committee are opposed to any legislation on the subject, consequently the "monkey bills" are considered dead. Similar measures in the House now become the charge of the Rules Committee there which has taken the attitude that other matters deserve earlier attention, so Darwin will be allowed to rest.

—X—X—

Press Tells of Strength

In dispatches of the Associated Press last Sunday was an account of the growing strength of the University in legislative circles at Frankfort. Two measures designed to bring an added revenue of more than $150,000 annually have been introduced in the House. A revised inheritance tax is provided in a measure introduced by Dr. B. A. Muster, chairman of the University Committee in the House. A bill limiting the fee of oil inspectors and giving the surplus to the University may be a compromise between Representatives Arch L. Hamilton and Frank Stranger who introduced measures with a similar intent. Representative Oscar Vest was author of a bill to abolish the office of oil inspector, which after heated opposition and repeated amendments was re-committed and is expected to give way to the Hamilton-Stranger bill.

An interview with Speaker of the House James H. Thompson by Herbert Graham, the Alumni Secretary, expressed the great need of a more liberal financial support for the University. Mr. Thompson who has been mentioned as a potential Democratic nominee for Governor next year has taken a stand in favor of tax reduction. In addition to favoring a larger annual appropriation for the University he advocates an expansive building program for the next eight or ten years, as recommended by the University Commission following its work last spring.

The State Board of Health which succeeded in taking from the University and Experiment Station the Pure Food and Drugs inspection in 1918 and sought to complete the separation act by removing Public Service Laboratories by a bill introduced at this session has received a very marked set-back. Provision was made for an investigation of the finances of the Board and a separate State Board for Chiropractors, both of which were vigorously opposed by the Board of Health officials. Indications of a possible re-organization of the Board by legislative action have been noted at Frankfort.

A return of all the Pure Food and Drugs work to the Experiment Station is provided in measures already introduced by Representative John E. Brown and Senator Newton Bright.

The right of eminent domain is given the University and the State Normal Schools in a bill introduced by Representative James Park. Senator Starling Marshall and Representative John Tinsley have introduced bills that would make women eligible for appointment on the Board of Trustees.

Alumni Law Down Barrage

There has been nothing of timidity in the approach of the alumni to members of the Kentucky General Assembly in the interest of a more liberal support of the University. Members of the Legislature have expressed pleasure at the interest of the former students in educational advancement. This correspondence has been carried on by the oldest and the youngest of the alumni, writing to state officials, the sojourns and others interested in public matters, not excluding editors of the leading newspapers of the State. Typical of these communications are the two following addressed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and a Kentucky college president respectively:

To The Speaker

"I think the treatment the University has received at the present session from the Budget Commission is a public outrage, and the petty tomfoolery that has been carried on about the monkey stuff is even worse. I have just returned from a considerable trip through several states and have noticed editorials in all of the papers everywhere ridiculing the Legislature of the State of Kentucky about this so called 'monkey business.' I believe the Legislature can safely leave to the fifteen representative citizens of Kentucky who constitute the Board of Trustees of the University to see to it that nothing is done at the University that will jeopardize the safety of the young citizenship of this State that may be enrolled there. Furthermore we have one of the very highest class men, Dr. McVey as President of the University, a Christian gentleman is every respect, and he will see to it that nothing is taught that is not strictly all right.

"I certainly hope you can see to it that proper appropriations are made to take care of the University and that the present session of the Legislature does not adjourn and leave the University to flounder along for another two years with inadequate support. You have no doubt read the report of the Commission of high class citizens who made the inspection tour of the various universities last May and recommended a liberal appropriation for the University of Kentucky. The State of Indiana just to our north maintains two state universities. Purdue at Lafayette and Indiana University at Bloomington, each one of which alone receives more money from the State than our own University. It is a serious situation when the young men and women of this State apply for admission at the State University and are turned away on account of lack of funds.

With a properly supported University the great natural resources of Kentucky can be developed and a handsome return on the investment in this University will be received by the State each year in the number of graduates turned back into the State as a finished product for the development of the Commonwealth. I certainly hope you can bring your good influence to bear to help out this situation."

—X—X—

James Anderson Yates, '90, head of the department of chemical and physical sciences and director of electrical and mining engineering at the State Manual Training Normal School at Pittsburg, Kan., aroused over the movement to ban the teaching of Darwinism in state-supported Kentucky educational institutions, has written to a college president in the state as follows:

To a Kentucky College President

"I notice in the Journal published by the American Association for the Advancement of Science and also from the larger daily papers quite a little comment concerning the proposed legislation before the present Legislature of Kentucky. I have understood that the Baptists are pushing this legislation.

"I have said to friends who have tried to twit me about the matter that I was certain that the leaders of the great Baptist hosts of Kentucky were not behind this movement, and certainly would lend their influence to correcting any freak legislation that would tend to promote discussion of any conflict between religion and science; that there is absolutely no conflict which every well informed individual knows and I am sure that your leaders in education work will see to it that no legislative enactments are made that would put our denomination on the side of controlling religiousity.

beliefs through law, when the Baptists have all through the ages stood so consistently for the freedom of conscience and against any law controlling any one's right to worship as he pleases.

"I am enclosing a clipping from the Topeka Capitol, the most widely read daily paper published in Kansas."

Education In Kentucky

The chancellor of the State University and other educators in Kentucky are protesting against a bill, said to have the support of a good majority of both houses of the state legislature, which forbids the teaching in any state school of "any theory of evolution that derives man from the brute, or any other form of life, or that eliminates God as the creator of man by a direct creative act."

In a word, Kentucky's legislature has heard of the so-called Darwinian theory. Probably the chancellor doesn't teach it, but objects nevertheless to being directed what to teach by a state legislature.

In the world as a whole it would be disastrous if legislatures with all the other problems they have to settle should now assume the function of telling experts what to teach in their specialty though it may make little difference in Kentucky, where any teaching is better than none. It would not greatly startle the world if the Kentucky legislature should require the schools to back up the voltaic physics, according to which the heavens are constituted of brass, or some such firm solid, and the stars are hung from it in the manner of chandeliers, while the earth is not a sphere but a plane, the sun is only 8,000 miles distant and the earth is surrounded by a fence of ice to keep mariners from falling off. This sort of philosophy would probably suit the Kentucky mountaineers well enough, of whom the story has been told that following the appearance of a book agent some years ago selling Rollin's Ancient History, which one of the Kentucky denizens was reading aloud to the community, betting was running high as to whether Titus, the Roman Emperor, would capture Jerusalem or not.

Legislative strictures on teaching are nothing new, being the rule rather than the exception during the Dark Ages, when the penalties were more severe than those provided by the Kentucky legislature of a maximum fine of $1,000. This is a comparatively mild infliction for heresy, so that it may be said that the new "Kentucky resolutions" prove in spite of themselves that "the sun do move." —Topeka Capitol (Kan.)

CENSORSHIP OF THE MOVIES

A bill to establish a board of censorship for moving pictures in Kentucky has been introduced in the Legislature by Senator Hiram Brock and passed by the Senate. According to the terms of the bill "...only such films as are in the judgment of the board of a moral and educational or amusing and harmless character shall be passed and approved by such board for exhibition in the state of Kentucky."

The board of censors is to consist of three persons to be appointed by the governor, one to be selected from a list of three furnished by the Federation of Women's Clubs, one from a list of three furnished by the Kentucky Educational Association, and one selected by the governor from the rest of the State, the members of the board to receive a salary of $3,000 a year each.

Kentucky should by all means have a board of movie censorship. Productions which with the evil suggestiveness of sex-problem plays, sensual love scenes, robberies, murders, suicides, drunkenness and the intrusion of the coarse and vulgar, not only pollute the mind of the growing child but exert evil influences on it, and in time lead many to attempt such crime as are "gotten away with" in the moving pictures.

By means of such a board of censorship Kentucky might well indulge the hope of raising educational and moral standards to such heights that films dealing with the cruder things of life shall have no place in the theatres of the State. But as the Kernel sees it, the grave problem that will confront those entrusted with the power of appointing such a board will be that of selecting for this great service citizens of such vision and understanding as not to make the institution an engine of oppression by hypercritical censorship and intolerance.

BASKETBALL SEASON

The University of Kentucky basketball season ended abruptly Saturday night when the Wildcat team suffered cruel defeat at the hands of the Mercer College five in the second round of play in the S. I. A. A. Tournament. The elimination of Kentucky from the tournament took with it the hope of winning a recognition such as the University of Kentucky and the basketball team did by winning the championship last year.

The hope for winning the championship of the south was lost when Hayden, forward, strongest link in the Wildcat chain was injured and unable to play in the crucial test with Mercer which ended Kentucky's aspiration for the Cup.

This game closes the basketball careers of Adkins, Hayden and Lavin, so far as the University of Kentucky is concerned. Their work as individual players and as team mates has been superb and they have given to the University that which can never be taken from her, the reputation of having the cleanest most sportsmanlike team in the southland. These three men have been crowned with individual honors and have brought fame to us such as we have never before received.

The entire team may be spoken of as stellar players rather than to single individual players, although Hayden, the "blond Apollo" has more often been "tipped" as the most outstanding player on the team.

Coach Buchheit has trained a team whose equal will probably never be surpassed in the University. He has matched his warriors against some of the strongest teams of the East this year. They were successful in many of the games and in these in which they met defeat it was by small scores and in instances where less than a fraction of a minute of play remaining had victory snatched from us.

The basketball season is ended and we are proud of the honor that the team has brought to the University and the recognition we have received in the athletic world of America. We are proud of the fact that we received an offer from Cuba to have our "wonder team" play in a series of games there.

WHITE MATHEMATICS CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The White Mathematics Club held its regular meeting in the Civil Physics building Thursday afternoon at 3:45. Prof. Geo. T. Seubert was the speaker of the afternoon and had as his subject, "Real Positive Number System." He gave a little history talk on how numbers were treated and showed how different operations of addition and multiplication were defined. He also showed how real numbers were defined as being "cuts" in a line. His talk was interesting and instructive.

The next meeting of the club will be held March 9. Dean P. P. Boyd will speak on "How To Read Secret Messages" and a full attendance of those majoring in mathematics is desired.

WILDCAT BASKETEERS CLOSE GRATIFYING SEASON AT THE NETS

Win State Championship
But Jinx Cuts Them Out Of The Southern

LOSE 6 OF 16 GAMES

Injuries and Accidents Play Large Part in Year's Record

The return of the University of Kentucky Basketball Team last Monday morning from Atlanta marked the final episode of the 1922 season. The 1922 season is now past history and the accomplishments of the Basketeers now ready for discussion by the stove league.

All things considered the success of the Kentucky Quintet has been highly successful and the record made by the wearers of the Blue and White would be highly gratifying to a team of ordinary ambition, but nothing short of the Southern Championship was the goal aimed at by the Wildcats. Through a series of bad luck the team was unable to realize its ambition, but easily succeeded in "copping" the State championship.

Ten Wins Out of 16 Tries

Out of a total of sixteen games, the Wildcats scored ten victories and suffered six defeats. All during the 1922 season, Kentucky has been pursued by the bad luck jinx. The first thing of that sort was the inability of Sam Ridgway to play this season owing to illness, while Basil Hayden star forward owing to his injured knee was unable to play until the second game with Louisville. Throughout this season Basil was forced to play with his knee bandaged.

The bad luck jinx followed on the footsteps of the wearers of the Blue and White all this season, Chuck Rice spraining his ankle the first day he came out for practice at the beginning of this season. Paul Adkins, star center of the quintet, was not overlooked in this bad luck streak and suffered a broken nose in the Vanderbilt game.

Besides Hayden and Adkins of the regular squad there are three other members to be mentioned here Bobbie Lavin, Captain of the 1922 outfit who plays guard has ably led his men and played an excellent game at all times. Dutch Burnham the other guard is one of the best defense men in the game. Bill King the other forward is an excellent player, Bill is also death on goals. This is the last season for Adkins, Hayden and Lavin. Adkins however, is still eligible for another year of basketball if he should come back next year.

Fame Lasting Impress

These players have given something to the school that it cannot give back in kind. They have played games suffering injuries and have worked at all times to gain again for Kentucky the Championship. Although it was a keen disappointment to all students not to win the Southern Championship, it was a far keener disappointment to the players who have given their time not only in the games when everything is exciting and interesting, but through the long weeks of practice as well.

The streak of bad luck continued right up to the tournament, Hayden throwing his knee out of place in the first half of the Georgetown contest, while in the Mercer game he was able to play only about half the time. Bill King was also out of this game during the second half on account of personal fouls.

Wildcats True Sports

Win or lose the Wildcats have shown themselves true sportsmen, and Kentuckians and we are certain that they have done their best at all times. And this is all that any team can do. It is easy for a team to win and be good sports but the true test of sportsmanship is to be good losers. The Wildcat team of 1922 has taught all athletics a lesson that we cannot well afford not to appropriate.

Players of 1922 we salute you!

WILDCAT GRAFFLERS OFF FOR IOWA MATCH

Blue and White Squad Compelled to Contest Under New Rule System

The Wildcat Wrestling Squad in charge of Student Coach Enlow, left Thursday morning at 8:25 from the Southern Station for Aimes, Iowa where they went to battle the Iowa University Wrestling Team the following evening.

The men making the trip are Waits 115 pounds; Maddox 125, Stith 135, Neal 145, Aiken 158, Robertson 175 and Enlow heavyweight. This will be the last athletic event for Aiken and Enlow, both men graduating this year. Winters of the 145 pound class is another graduate who will not be back next year. A great deal of regret is expressed because of the fact that Coach Harold Enlow will not be back to direct the boys next year and the Athletic Council is now negotiating with Coach Jack Reynolds of Indiana University who successfully coached the Indiana Wrestling Team this season. Incidentally Coach Reynolds is the Wrestler Weight Champion of the world.

The match has scheduled under Western Conference Rules consisting of one twelve-minute bout for each weight with three minute bouts added in case of draws. This system of rules is different from that under which the Wildcats have wrestled. However, for the past week the men have been working hard under Western Conference rules so as to familiarize themselves as much as possible with this system. Two men on the squad, suffered slight injuries last week, Maddox suffering with a cauliflowered ear and Robertson still having trouble with his knee injured in the Ohio meet.

The squad arrived in Aimes Friday morning at 9:25. Iowa is reputed to have the strongest team in the West defeating the University of Nebraska Wrestling team 40 to 0 and the Indiana Wrestling Team 52 to 0. Iowa was also able to defeat the West Virginia Wrestling Team by several points. No judge was taken by Kentucky and the name of the referee of the match could not be learned up to the time this report had to be closed Friday afternoon.

SOPHS WIN INTERCLASS BASKET CHAMPIONSHIP

Wrest Honor From Juniors; Asher High Point Man of League

In a game replete with thrills the Sophomores basketball team defeated the Junior quintet Monday afternoon 36-27, and won the class championship carrying with it the coveted sweaters.

The sophomores jumped into the lead immediately after the first whistle and ran up five points before the Red team could score. Hogg then shot a foul for the Juniors. The Sophomores, enraged at this "insult" scored point after point and the half ended with the second year men on the long end of a 15-6 score. The Juniors came back into the game in the second semester with grim determination and in the second half the honors were about equally divided. Toward the end of the game the Red team started what seemed to be a winning rally only to fall short of their goal. Just as the whistle blew ending the game, Hogg threw a field goal bringing his team's total to 27, while their opponents had garnered 36 markers.

It is hard to pick out any individual stars among either team but the work of Boren, Sophomore guard, was probably the best seen on the University floor outside of Varsity games. Asher seemed best for the Juniors, scoring almost half their points. Asher was high point man in the class league, making 61 points.

The lineup:
Sophomores (36) ... (27) Juniors
Barnes (12) ...F..... (4) Langford
Riecken (13) ...F..... (8) Hogg
Bayless (9) ...C..... (13) Asher
Powell (2) ...G..... Sauer
BorenG..... Grant
Substitutions: Juniors—Arnold (2) for Langford, Baugh for Sauer, Langford for Arnold.

Fouls: Arnold, 2 out of 4; Hogg, 2 out of 3; Asher, 3 out of 4; Riecken, 2 out of 3; Bayless, 1 out of 2.

Referee: Hansen. Timekeeper: Clark.

violating the law forbidding the teaching of evolution in the schools of the State of Kentucky was tried. The trial went through the usual legal proceedings, with O. W. Cain of the Law College the presiding judge, Lenore V. Patrick of the Law College acting as prosecuting attorney and Mr. Daniels, the defendant's attorney. Charles Hubbard represented Josiah Allen, the high-school principal who had explained the theory of evolution to his high-school pupils. The defendant's witnesses were Chlora Traylor as Miss Spigot, and Myrtle Moore as Miss Patience Prudence; the prosecutor's witnesses, Verbinay Porter, a simple little country girl, the part being ably carried out by Miriam Kincheloe, and Katherine Hendrix, as Mrs. Porter, the mother of "Verbinay." The jury returned the verdict of being unable to agree.

PLANS FOR SOCIAL HYGIENE SOCIETY MADE

Professors Funkhouser, Holmes and Chalkley Give Interesting Talks at Conference

Lexington is to have a social hygiene society for Central Kentucky, according to plans made at the final session of the conference on social hygiene and sex education held in the ballroom of the Lafayette Hotel February 24 and 25. The conference was held under auspices of the University of Kentucky, U. S. Bureau of Education, U. S. Board of Health, and Kentucky State Board of Health. Each organization sent able speakers to the conference.

This conference, the first of its kind to be held in central Kentucky, was brought about through the efforts of Dr. P. K. Holmes, head of the Department of Hygiene and Public Health in the University of Kentucky. Besides the representatives from other parts he was assisted by a local committee of about twenty-three persons.

Training of children to have pride in family stock, distaste for lower types and avoidance of relations with families having strains of insanity, epilepsy or undesirable hereditary traits and the establishment of public sentiment recognizing the great influence of heredity, were urged by prominent speakers during the course of the meeting.

Health certificates and reasonably complete family histories were suggested as requisites for marriage licenses by Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, head of the Department of Zoology at the University of Kentucky, who also recommended that family physicians make an attempt to discourage marriage of the unfit.

Dr. P. K. Holmes suggested that the University give a series of public lectures on hygiene for parents and teachers so that the children in the homes and schools may learn important sex problems. Approval of the suggestion was manifested by all present.

Friday evening during the second session of the conference, Judge Lyman Chaikley, Professor in the College of Law, University of Kentucky, led an interesting discussion of the subjects treated by the speakers of the evening.

FRITZ KREISLER

When Fritz Kreisler returns to Lexington for a concert at Woodland auditorium Monday night, March 20, he will be received by an audience many of whom have heard him often before and others who are perfectly familiar with phonograph records. The Kreisler concert will be the fifth and last of the Artist concert series for the season of 1921-1922.

Kreisler grew weary long ago of playing part or entire concertos with piano accompaniment and with unaccompanied Bach pieces and realized that they were not the most stirring musical recitals, so he decided to go into research for some compositions not so limited. He was successful in this and moreover he made a number of arrangements of smaller composers with the result that his recital programs became models which all other violinists are following. With Porpora and Chaminade, Pugnani and Dvorak and others whom the centuries divide appearing in juxtaposition. Great piquancy is given to the slighter portions of programs which invariably include works of major importance and so the critics who as a rule look askance upon arrangements are disarmed. Kreisler's tour this year has included all the leading cities of this country and he is now in Cuba. His return to the States is scheduled for about March 1.

Seats for the Kreisler concert may be ordered by mail from Miss Anna Chandler Goff of the Lexington College of Music, or by telephoning 639-X. It is expected that the Kreisler concert will be the most popular of all the season's offerings and those who wish to obtain good reservations should write or telephone at the earliest possible moment.

What Is Water Japan?

JAPAN—not the country but a metal-coating varnish—and your morning bottle of milk. Totally unlike, yet associated!

Ordinary japan consists of a tough, rubbery, tar-like "base" and a highly inflammable "solvent." The solvent dilutes the base so that the metal may be coated with it easily. The presence of the solvent involves considerable fire risk, especially in the baking oven.

Milk is a watery fluid containing suspended particles of butter fat, so small that one needs the ultra-microscope to detect them. An insoluble substance held permanently in suspension in a liquid in this manner is in "colloidal suspension."

The principle of colloidal suspension as demonstrated in milk was applied by the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company to develop Water Japan. In this compound the particles of japan base are colloidally suspended in water. The fire risk vanishes.

So the analysis of milk has pointed the way to a safe japan. Again Nature serves industry.

Connected with the common things around us are many principles which may be applied to the uses of industry with revolutionary results. As Hamlet said, "There are more things in Heaven and earth, Horatio, than are dreamt of in your philosophy."
